

To whom it may concern

It is my opinion that electoral registration should be automatic in Ireland. A citizen could be registered immediately once they applied for their driver's licence or a person's PPSN information could be used, with their permission, to automatically register them to vote when they turn 18.

Yours faithfully,

Hugo Mills